EXTRA GOOD VALUES IN COPPER

BRING BACK SPECIMENS IN QUANTITY SHOWING PRESENT OF COPPER GLANCE.

About 200 pounds of rock samples, of a quantity to make an ore fancier's eyes bulge with greed or admiration, were brought back last Sunday by G. H. Leland and John Allbright from the Black Canyon Copper Mining company's property, of which they are respectively treasurer and vice president.

In this latest ore there are also good gold and silver values, the amounts of which are yet to be determined, but the feature that is patent to any seeing eye is the streak of copper glance that runs criss-cross through almost every portion of it. The latter is known to run 90 per cent pure copper. Also a new discovery, that awaits analysis, are three inches of an exceedingly heavy, gray colored ore, that marks the border of the bluish ore, and has every outward appearance of tungsten.

The present trip of Mr. Leland was his first to the property. He said, in part: "I am more than ever satisfied. I expected much from the surface showing, but it far exceeded my expectations." Further, in the matter of some details he stated: "We went through without mishap, taking provisions and mine supplies to last for three months.

"These samples come from a single round of shots placed in the ledge where it crosses a draw, further back from the river, and about seventy-five feet lower down than the top of the hill where the first locating and prospecting was done. The ledge is three feet wide and paralleling it are three others of about equal size, the whole possibly covering a width of thirty feet.

"Still continuing inland the croppings can be seen breaking out at intervals up the side of a high mountain—in all a distance of 3000 feet. We will first explore a certain distance into this higher ground and later drift the other way to the river."

The quantity and high quality of the ore, as already known and breaking to the surface, as well as the feasibility and small expense of floating it on barges to the Needles smelter, leaves no doubt in the minds of the management of continuous operation from this time forth.

Mr. Leland will make another business trip, commencing next Monday, that will extend from Redlands to San Francisco. He states that on his previous and first trip, in the interest of this enterprise, he was offered more backing than he was then willing to accept without first making a personal inspection and without being provided, as now, with the tangible evidence of this mineral wealth.—Searchlight Bulletin.

TURNING OUT THE BEST WORK

The bindery of the Bonanza is turning out the best work in the city, and it is giving such great satisfaction that anyone who has his work done there once, never goes anywhere else. The plant is the finest and most complete, not only in the State, but this side of San Francisco. We can turn out all kinds of work that is demanded in the offices of lawyers, brokers, promoters, mining companies, or for any other kind of business, and we guarantee satisfaction in every respect. One trial will be sufficient to establish the truth of this statement. It pays to go where only the best kind of work is done, and it pays to patronize home industry.

JEALOUSY.

"I can't understand why she isn't happy with him. He's certainly very attentive to her."

"That's just it. She argues that he couldn't be so attentive to her if he hadn't had a lot of experience before with some one else."—Philadelphia Press.

EVERY EVIDENCE OF PROVING A WONDER

STIMLER DISTRICT IN SILVER PEAK RANGE SHOWS UP GREAT VALUES.

Five thousand or more feet above the level of the sea and high up and well on towards the middle of the Silver Peak range of mountains has recently been established the new Stimler mining district, and from the indications that now exist it gives more than ordinary promise of becoming one of the leaders of Nevada's camps.

At present approach to the new camp is slow and circuitous and requires the greater part of a day's travel. To get there one has to go by train to Blair Junction, via Tonopah, and thence to Blair, where a team is taken and a drive of fourteen or fifteen miles follows over a road that for a few miles compares favorably with any in the country, but the last section of which is over rocks and through sandy washes. However, work is now progressing on the road leading out of the new camp and within the next few days it will be put in such shape that travel will become comparatively easy, and added to this the plan to establish a stage route between there and Goldfield, now in formation, will bring this district within a very few hours' ride of the new camp and make Goldfield its chief supply and receiving point.

The main property of the new district is owned by Henry Jagels and Harry P. Stimler, and consists of a group of ten claims, three of which are being worked by leasers. Among those at work are the Consolidated Nevada Mines company, Watson, Marachi and Coburn, Shirley and Ingalls, Swears and Burton, and many others. Thirty odd leases, however, have been let and within a week or so a big majority of them will be at work. The deepest workings in the camp are on the blocks of ground owned by the first three named leasers and at a depth of fifty feet, which has been attained by all of them, the showing is truly remarkable and shows the section to be highly mineralized and the pay shoots rich and continuous. So far where work has been prosecuted the shafts that have been sunk follow the footwall and in every instance where the ore body has been cut there has been opened a two-foot expanse of vein matter that runs above shipping requirements and promises to net the operators a big bunch of money. Average samples taken from these workings by the writer, who has made two visits to the camp, have returned values running anywhere from $50 to $200, and reports brought in from the camp yesterday state that two feet of the ore cut in the footwall of the Consolidated Nevada Mines company's lease at the 50-foot level, showed returns of $437 to the ton, seven ounces of which is gold. This lease is being operated under the direct supervision of Harry Stimler and Fred Ninnis.

The ledge system which traverses this section of the Silver Peak country is wide and regular, cropping in places twenty or thirty feet in the air. It is so prominent that it is strange that work has never before been done on it, but this may be partially explained by the fact that about and above the surface leaching of the ledges has taken place, leaving the quartz both hungry looking and barren, but a few feet below the surface values began to appear and have steadily increased till now the shipping product has been reached and it gives every indication of becoming permanent and will lead to the development of a stupendous mining proposition.

People are now flocking into the "new diggings" in considerable numbers, and to accommodate them several lodging and boarding houses have been established and within the next week a corral and livery stable will be in operation. A townsite has been surveyed and lots will be offered for sale within the next few days. The townsite possesses an ideal location. It is situated upon a mesa twenty feet above Cottonwood wash and comprises about seventy acres. Two miles from the town, which has been named Stimler, timber abounds in immeasurable quantities, and water, pure as crystal, can be piped from Cottonwood Springs, half a mile distant. For a new district there is none in the state that seems so pregnant with hope as Stimler and the day is not far distant when it will enter the producing list and strive for a national record.—Goldfield News.

THE ARIZONA LIO.

(A law prohibiting gambling has gone into effect in Arizona.)

"Why is the sheriff mouchin' round?" says Arizona Red.

"To close us up. To close us up," the faro dealer said.

"Why don't you let me call the turn?" says Arizona Red.

"It's after twelve and April's here," the faro dealer said.

"For counsel's passed a measure an' Kibbey's signed the bill

Which makes our road a rocky one, an' crooked an' up hill.

So I'm hikin' toward Nevada, where a gentleman can sport his fill, And I'll pull my freight for Goldfields in the mornin'!"

"Why don't the croupier spin the ball?" says Arizona Red.

"He's up agin the statutes, too," the faro dealer said.

"What can I do with these here chips?" says Arizona Red.

"Why, nothin' only cash 'em in," the faro dealer said.

"For clear upon the bar-room wall the skiddoo sign is writ.

It's twenty-three, an' down an' out—the sports has got to git.

And them that hasn't got a roll will have to hit the grit.

So my ticket's bought for Goldfields in the mornin'!"

"The crap and monte games are still," says Arizona Red.

"They've got to be. They've got to be," the faro dealer said.

"They're packin' up the cards and dice," says Arizona Red.

"They'll come in handy 'cross the line," the faro dealer said.

"But here the boys won't have no use for all their tools and traps.

It's 'gin the statute to deal bank or make a pass at craps;

An' the sports have all got Arizona copped on their maps.

So it's me away for Goldfields in the mornin'!"

"Well, certain poker ain't cut out," says Arizona Red.

"As sure as three will beat two pair the faro dealer said.

"Then what the devil can we do," says Arizona Red.

"Go play old maid with Charley's aunt," the faro dealer said.

"You're up agin the real thing now, the old-time game is done.

And for your hard-earned money you'll never get a run.

You'll have to take to solitaire and such like games, my son.

So, your uncle for the Goldfields in the mornin'!"
